Forecast For Highland & Eilean Siar
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Thursday 06 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showers and limited brighter spells. Seasonally cool.

Today:
Seasonally cool to cold with northerly winds strong across western coasts and Isles. Rather cloudy with showers, these perhaps wintry to quite low levels initially, also heavy at times, bringing risk of hail, thunder, particularly during afternoon across southern areas. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers frequent early evening, between limited late brighter spells. Showers dwindling overnight. Frost for many away from windward coasts. Winds north to northwest brisk over coasts, easing inland. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Friday:
Similar to Thursday with Northwest breezes bringing occasional showers, some heavy and potentially thundery, particularly for the afternoon in the south. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Fair start to Saturday, then strengthening winds and periods of rain spreading from southwest, reaching all by days end. Thereafter showers or longer periods of rain, heavy at times.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.